High Quality 1510x1080 tamil dubbed movie the symbol of peace shimla marchi 3gpp.Q: Cohomology of a Grassmannian (from M.S.Green's notes on differential topology) Question : In Green's Notes on Differential Topology, where his source is Munkres, I find the following: (p. 160, last paragraph) "The case of the Grassmannian  $G_k(V)$  is very similar...." Is anyone familiar with any text that treats this? I have been Googling for the last couple hours, with no luck. Does anyone know of a good, tutorial-style presentation of this? (sorry if this is off-topic for math.SE) A: If you look up Munkres' section 5.9(c) of his Topology, he provides a complete proof. The only thing that was missing was the following: ... Then the  $r$ -th real cohomology group  $H^r(G_k(V); \mathbb{R})$  is isomorphic to the exterior algebra of the bundle of oriented  $r$ -planes,  $H^r(G_k(V); \mathbb{R}) \cong \bigwedge^r \text{hom}(\mathbb{R}^k, \mathbb{R})$ . Q: Bash command substitution and  $()$  operator I have a bash script which I ran without any parameters or anything. It creates a directory for me as part of the script, but the directory is empty. I assume that is because the  $()$  operator in bash is empty, because if I have a bash script: `#!/usr/bin/env bash  $()$  echo ' $()$  is empty'` Which obviously doesn't execute as the  $()$  is empty and is just some text. I need to insert a value into the new directory I create and this is where I ran into the trouble. I tried this: `#!/usr/bin/env bash [ -d  $new\_dir$  ] || mkdir -p " $new\_dir$ " # My code that creates a directory and I need it inside  $new\_dir$  mkdir -p " $new\_dir$ "` However, that doesn't work. In the `/usr/bin/env bash` file, the command substitution
